This is us

the N crowd

A crowd like most crowds,
seeing the same things, doing the same things, feeling the same things, finding that it is the differences as well as the similarities that bring us together.

Crying out to be heard

Hey, I'm me! I'm somebody of importance!
Give me a try. I've got an idea!
I know. I KNOW!
Look at me! See how I dress, the way I talk.
That's all part of me, ME!

Needing to belong to something,

to be part of a whole,
yet wanting to be needed
in return.

Searching
for stability,
for solid ground,
longing to be on the inside
no longer
on the outside looking in.

Longing to be something,
somebody, somebody special

yet unsure of how to achieve this goal

If wishes were horses and beggars were kings. . .

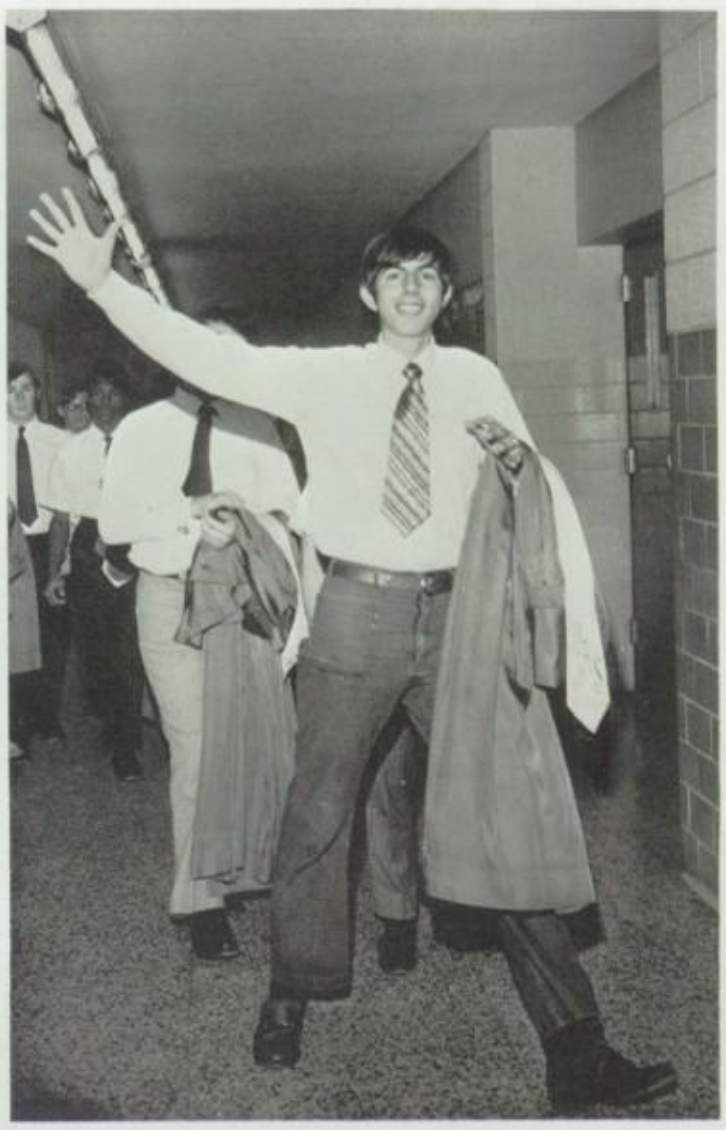
Ready for anything new

New. Brand new. Life is new. We are new.



And new is better, maybe.

A time to be involved.
So many things,
so many causes, so much good, so much evil.
Women's lib, ecology, the war, school.

A time to say, this I believe -- and here's what I'm going to do about it.

A time of Dr. Peppers and hamburgers, of first love, first car, first reaching for maturity.

For we're in love with life,

in love with each other,

and glad to be alive!!!

Our search to find ourselves often begins in a classroom, perhaps alone with a teacher, alone with a book, alone with oneself. The academic program seeks to mold us as individuals who make up a meaningful society, while guiding us toward the person we want to become. We make of this what we choose, each responding as we will to the opportunity to grow.

School board influences Northside student life

Northside students discovered this year that the Fort Smith School Board has a great influence on what is eaten, worn and done at school. A major issue on campus was the cafeteria change. Participation in a federally assisted school lunch program was the result of a decision made by the board early in December. One change made by the school board was that of the dress code. This was the first year in which both students and teachers were allowed to wear pants suits to class. The board also affected Northside student life in the closing of North 25th Street for a safer campus. Board officers for 1970-71 were Bill Moran, president; Dr. Theodore Skokos, vice-president; Mrs. Blanche Tinder, secretary; Chris D. Corbin, financial secretary, superintendent of schools. Other directors are Luther Hodges Jr., Dr. Neil Crow, E. J. Embry and Felice Cialone. Board meetings are open to the public.

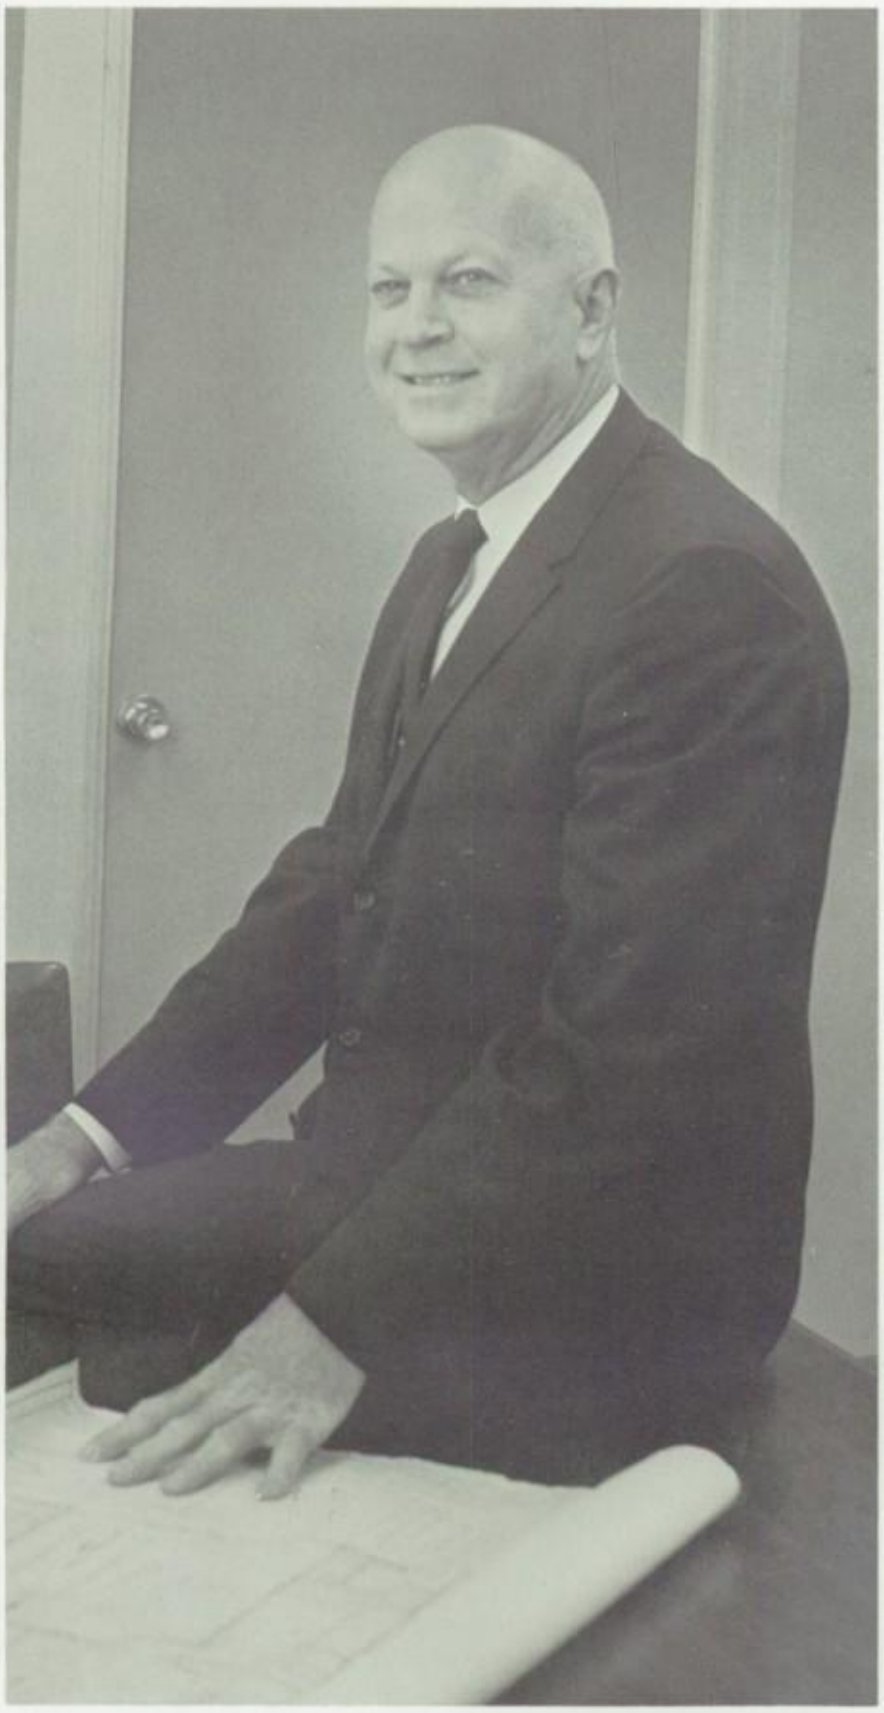
Northside life continues without major change

"The lines are the same, only the people are different" . . . This paraphrase of Johnny Cash may well have been the theme of the 1970-'71 school year as it opened on August 26 to follow its traditional 182-day schedule. With the hot August sun beating in through the windows, students could look forward to a year much unchanged from any other. Attending the same classes and following the same program, everyone was already making plans for the week vacation at Thanksgiving. But, with the closing of North 25th Street, the implementation of the English program and a completely new dress code, the year was to include its share of changes. The total enrollment of 1,758 included 515 seniors, 624 juniors and 619 sophomores–all grizzlies the Red and White way.



Corbin: Communication is key to improvement

Frequent visitor to Northside campus and athletic functions, Chris D. Corbin is an administrator dedicated to the concept of providing the best educational opportunities for every student. He feels it his responsibility to keep himself informed about developments in the important areas of curriculum, finance, instruction and organization. He also feels that establishing a two-way flow of information between the administration and the teachers in the school system is the key to improvement. A Superintendent's Information Committee is being formed for the purpose of establishing this contact. Dr. Louis Armstrong's program in the Fort Smith Public School System asserts an effort to make teaching more effective through the improvement of teachers themselves rather than through material aids. This program also considers the challenge of providing for the individual needs of the student and motivating him to develop himself to capacity.

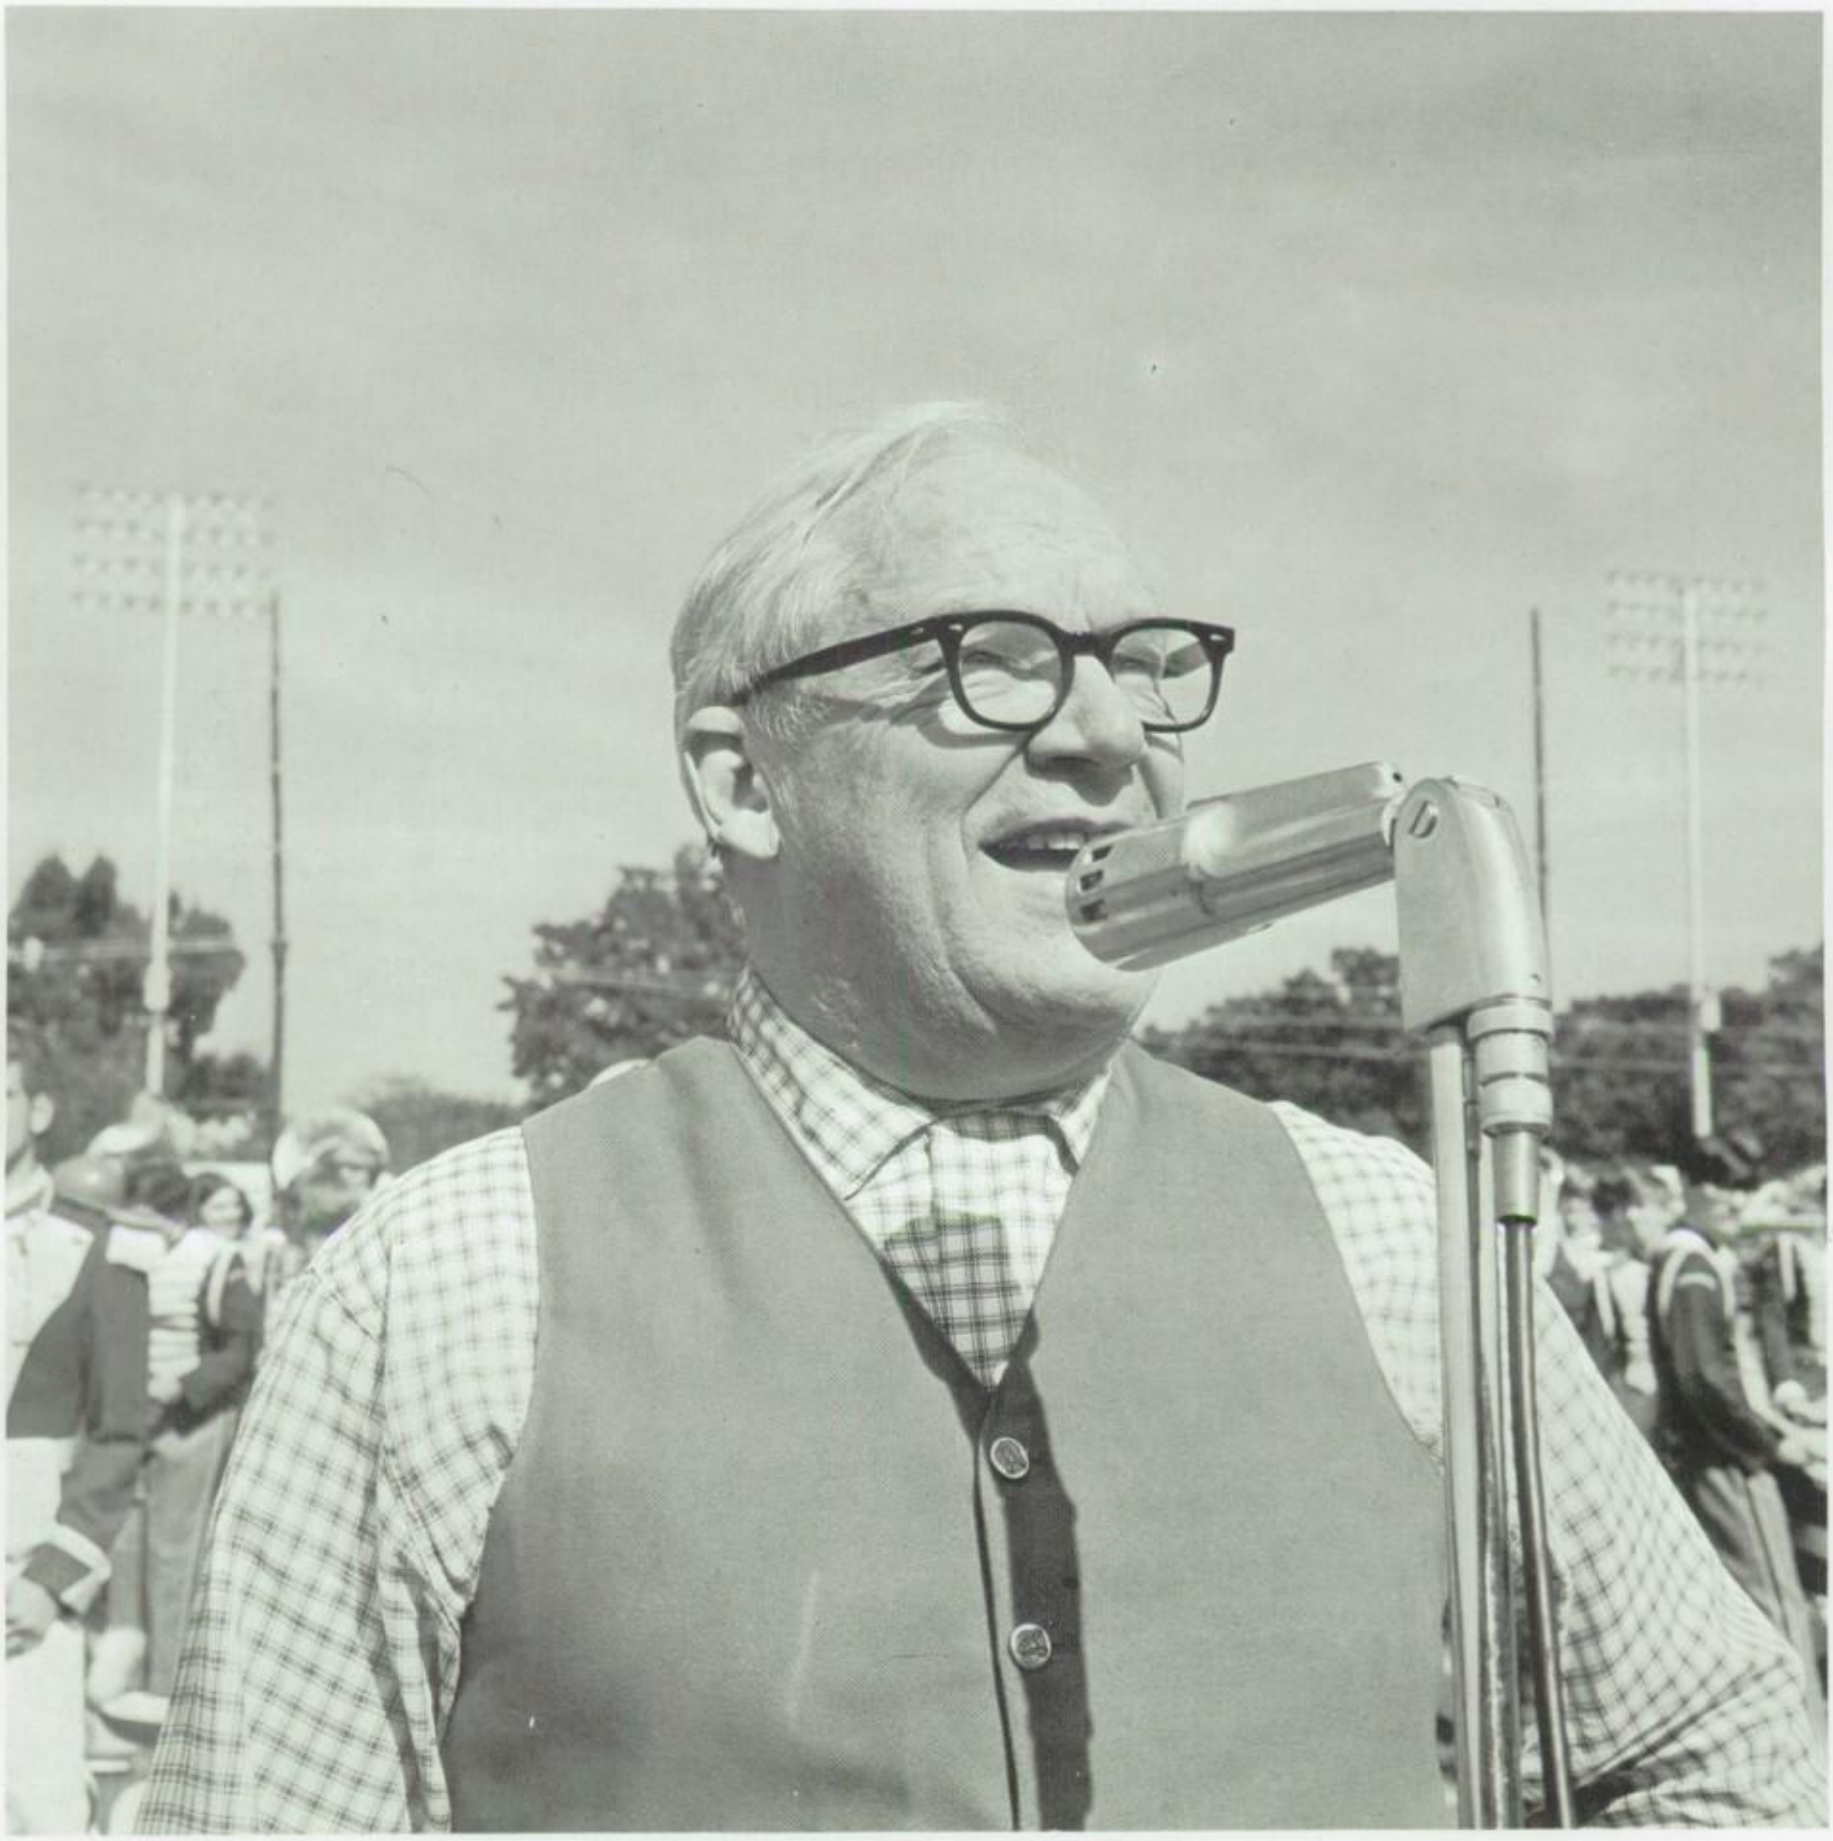
R. Earl Farnsworth . . .

ready to lead the way

Homecoming ceremony, play, assembly or parade, if it concerns Northside it's certain that R. Earl Farnsworth, principal, is around to lead the way. Northside spirit and "Skipper" are one and the same. Where there's one, there's the other. Seemingly, running a school with an enrollment of nearly 1,800 would be a full-time job for any man. Not so for Mr. Farnsworth. Aside from his duties as principal, he finds time to sponsor the Leo Club and the National Honor Society on campus and still more time to enjoy golf, photography and gardening as year-round pursuits. His summer and winter vacations are devoted to special travels throughout the United States and Europe. During an average school day, he can be found doing anything from delivering the morning devotional, to playing handyman in an attempt to repair a faulty copy machine, to conferring with parents. Being everywhere, doing everything . . . that's R. Earl Farnsworth, principal of Northside High School, home of the number one Grizzlies!



Versatility is a word well suited to R. Earl Farnsworth, principal of Northside. His enthusiasm for the Grizzly way of life extends beyond his "official" routines (above) to boosting the Bears (left) at every opportunity. Top: Knowing that students can do better in school if they feel at home on campus, he addresses new students and sophomores at a pre-school orientation.

Counseling program seeks 'magic words'

"Counseling is a challenge to me. It is a slow process. If I help one or two, I feel that I've made an accomplishment. I wish I had some magic words to help the students." These are the sentiments expressed by Clifton Grace, assistant principal and dean of boys. Deans as well as students found the 1970-71 school year to be one of change and expansion. This expansion included the addition of Bill C. Bardrick as assistant principal and dean of boys at Peabody Annex. One major change was the replacement of retiring Dean of Girls Mrs. E. O. Lemley by Mrs. Dale Bennett, former Northside English instructor. More effort, the counselors say, was made this year to allow students to be individuals. Guidance is not just a matter of discipline, they say, but is an attempt to aid and guide students in preparing for their future, whatever it may be. The testing program helps carry out this purpose by serving as a guide as students make the decisions of a lifetime.

Who can describe a teacher?

A teacher is a special kind of person. . .

who does a little bit of everything . . .

makes decisions . . .

A teacher explains, explains, and explains.

Ritual for '70-'71 includes 8 new teachers

Nine months of the year 80 Northside faculty members begin classes at 8:25 each day and end them at 3:15 each afternoon. Eight new teachers joined the ritual this year: Mrs. Suzanne B. Heard, Nolan Mainus, Mrs. Bob Stone, Billy D. Venable, Bob L. Burns, Mrs. Ida Mae Dougan, Steve Hunt and James C. Carty. Those not returning were Mrs. Grace D. Hooten, Vernon Lee Weaver, Bill Byers, Mrs. Carrie T. Cox, Mrs. Jeanie Tankersley, Mrs. Ruth Van Riper and Miss Susie Johnston. Mrs. Dale Bennett, former English teacher, assumed the position of dean of girls, replacing Mrs. E. O. Lemley, who was among the group of teachers retiring in the spring.

Aspects of the sports program attracting teachers were two teas held during the season.

'Gone were the days' is song of cafeteria

Northside students returning from Christmas holidays found a distinctive change in the cafeteria program. Gone were the days of sitting idly at a table drinking a Coke and eating a sandwich bought at the canteen. There were no longer soft drink machines and a canteen, but a plate lunch line serving a standard meal at a standard price. Northside has long been known as the only school in the system with an open cafeteria. Now all this is changed . . . For the Northside custodians, life and work was going on much as usual. They put in the same long hours and did the same hard work, performing their job–housekeeping at Northside, home of the Grizzlies.

Education: our reason for being here

"This is Northside. What I accomplish here is important." The true Grizzly knows this well. From the first nervous, excitement-filled days of being a sophomore to the last misty moments of being a senior, the true Grizzly comes with purpose—to learn to use his talents to create a meaningful and enriched way of life so he can fulfill himself. The road is long, but the true Grizzly realizes that to get ahead in today's society one needs a good education, the best! The true Grizzly knows that an education means "aheaducation."

Studying the sciences, seeking reference materials, concentrating on tests, or even achievement in a competitive activity—it's all a part of the academic process on campus.

It begins with books, in class, out of class

Books! They're with you where ever you go, rain or shine—from standing in the long line at the book exchange conducted by the Student Council, to formal book displays arranged by the librarians. Books that provide for leisure reading as well as reference materials and a starting point for those endless questions that intrigue the mind.

There are classrooms, students and teachers

The classroom is more than the traditional, institution-like room with desks lined neatly in rows, and all homework printed conspicuously on the blackboard. It is concerned with the outside world and the role today's student plays in today's society. Northside's 78 teachers carry on an academic program designed to prepare the 1,761 students for their present and future life. Twelve acres of land house enough class space to offer 13 courses of study designed to teach students to "think clearly, and make decisions only after careful evaluation."

The classroom, does not have to have four walls and a "me teacher-you student" atmosphere. It involves the world around us, harmonious teacher-student relationships and special lectures, such as the one given by Jack Brown on drug problems today.

Bruin and Litsmith are also delivered through the publications office.

Communication is first: speak, listen, read

Speakers and journalists roamed the halls of Northside as the fine arts and publication departments attempted to bring out the best in the speech and journalism pupils. From the first persuasive speech and the first clicks of the typewriter, the purpose was communicating, or rather, relating one's feelings to others. "If you can't get your message across, it isn't worth saying," commented Mrs. Billie Stone, speech teacher. Speech students attended a regional oratory contest in Fayetteville in December. Eight won recognition, and Northside received a third-place rating in competition with 19 other regional schools. The Bruin and the Grizzly continue to hold state recognition and Medalist and all-American honors in nation-wide competition, along with the FJA Americana Award.

Creative imagination encouraged in studies

From the assignments in creative writing in the English classes to the last strokes of the paint brush in the art studio and the participation both curricular and extracurricular in dramatics, Northsiders are encouraged to let their imaginations soar. To challenge and express their imaginative ability, art classes participated in two events–one a city-wide Christmas card contest and the other a poster competition for fire and crime prevention weeks. Groups of art students attended the senior art show at Hendrix College in Conway, a number of local art shows, and a trip in April to the Kansas City Art Gallery. Individuals entered various contests. Another aspect of creative imagination was encouraged in seeking new approaches in the competition sponsored through the Fort Smith Environmental Committee.

A season like Christmas sparks the creative enthusiasm of imaginative students as they apply their talents (reading clockwise) for the enjoyment of others by projects such as this display in the library. Expressing themselves individually, they work in the art studio, alone or in groups, or participate in extracurricular activity.

Right: The question of a new state constitution was presented by local attorneys speaking to classes. Far right: To become involved in today's society, Dennis Myers, Darrell Meadows, Britt Crews, Vicki White, Jeannie Martin and Southsiders (seated) attend a press conference held by Winthrop Rockefeller. Above: Students participate in a range of special projects, such as decorating the classroom in accordance with the particular classroom, course or occasion.

'Our place in society' basic subject of study

1970--the year the vote came to Northside. To learn more about the ideas and feelings of today's teen-agers, the Governor's Youth Council sponsored a mock election on campus. Although their votes did not "count," the exercise did give many students a chance to become more involved in today's society. But there is more to social studies than politics. Courses such as Family Living, Explorations in Humanities, and specialized history courses combine to prepare today's youth to accept the responsibility of tomorrow's world. To develop an understanding and appreciation of the history, language and culture of other peoples, the four language classes--Spanish, French, German and Latin--conducted a variety of studies displaying the different customs and foreign dress in Spain, France, Germany and Italy.

Environmental studies pursued in classroom

Whether seeking the answers to chemical equations, probing into the world of microbes, studying the mysteries of anatomy, working to improve our environment, or attempting to master the art of mathematics, Northsiders study the fields of math and science. The 33 math and science courses on campus, taught by seven teachers, are the two subjects most often chosen by students, proved by the fact that over two-thirds of the student body is enrolled in a math or science course this year. Because of overwhelming response to the invitation to all students to participate in a contest sponsored by the Fort Smith Environmental Committee, the annual science fair was not held this year. In the Science Recognition Day observance, eight Northsiders were honored.

Basic skills contribute to better daily routines

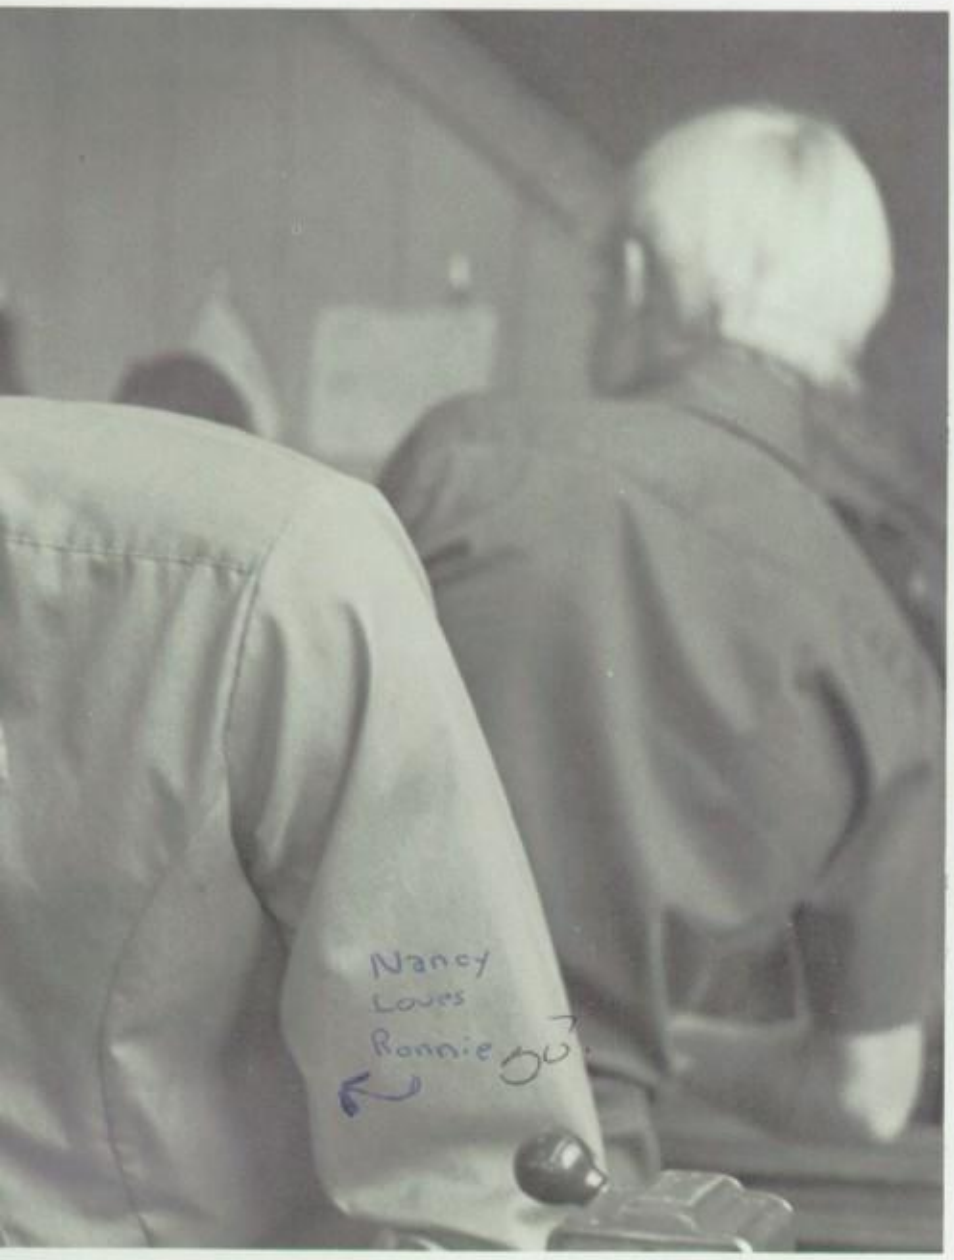
The pleasant red brick building at the northeast corner of the campus is, perhaps, the busiest place around Northside. With the air filled with the fragrant aromas of new delicacies, and activities ranging from interior decoration to home management, the girls practice the basic skills that lead to a better daily life. Practically every aspect of the homemaking routine is taken into consideration, from planning the weekly budget, learning the basics of first aid and nursing, to sewing with a view toward one's own needs. In addition to the classroom activity, two teas have been held by the department—one an open house for the students' mothers and faculty members and one for faculty and staff in observance of Easter.

Homemaking is more than the traditional cooking routine, shown opposite page and above. It involves out-of-the-classroom activities, such as dressing dolls for the Salvation Army, opposite page right, and preparing the table for a tea, left.

Vocational training is offered in three departments. Upper left: Learning the use of the machine begins with book work, here in metalworking. Center: And then the real thing begins—the actual use of the machine, with hours of practice to acquire skill. Above: All shop projects begin with a studied plan and (right) may be individual or group activities. In the vocational printing classes, students produce various printed materials used in the school system, as well as a number of publications. Basic skills are taught in industrial arts printing.

Demands of the future lead to career training

In this age of industrialization, the Northside vocational education program strives to prepare its students for the career demands of the future. In metal- and woodworking, projects in training begin with the complex study of intricate machines and tools, carry the students through the basics of designing and end with the finished product, perhaps a mini-bike or a bookshelf. The printing department, serving as practice in a typical print shop, offers both vocational and industrial arts training. With the completion of the new darkroom and nuArc camera, the shop in now equipped for both letterpress and offset work and is the most fully equipped high school print shop in this area, operating under the name Grizzly Press.



Physical fitness plan promotes good health

From first aid to safety, the physical fitness program is designed to promote good health. Offering a daily break from five periods of study, activities in the physical education program range from a variety of organized games to physical exercise and fitness testing. Volleyball, basketball and softball are made available to both girls and boys to emphasize the importance of teamwork and good sportsmanship. For boys, individual bodybuilding and endurance are developed by weight-lifting, rope jumping and isometric contraction. Girls participate also in the areas of badminton, golf and bowling.

JROTC honors range from presenting the colors at assemblies and games to raising and lowering the flags on the Northside and Peabody grounds.

Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps

175 cadets participate in specialized training

Hut-two-three-four . . . right face! From early fall to late spring, this familiar echo can be heard from the practice field at Peabody, where the Junior Reserve Officers Training Corp is located. Since its establishment four years ago, JROTC has provided both training in the military field and an awareness of the world around them for approximately 175 cadets each year, under the direction of Col. Choice R. Rucker, senior commandant, and M/Sgt. William Lloyd. Activities this year included participation in the homecoming parade and also in the city Christmas parade. The color guard participated in assemblies and home basketball and football games by presenting the Stars and Stripes. Now in its fourth year, the "Bars and Gripes" is the JROTC newspaper, with Maurice Rapert and Louis Wofford as editors.

Mixed chorus enters campaign world

"Up, up and away with music" could be the theme for Northside's choral department this year. Their traditional busy schedule included many performances for local clubs and organizations, as well as for Northside. Under the direction of Miss Edna Earle Massey, they also had the honor to perform for Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew during a campaign visit to Fort Smith in October. The Mixed Chorus welcomed 60 new members in the seventh annual robing ceremony November 10. New among the ranks of performing groups were the Girls Ensemble and a sophomore trio. Carrying on Northside's tradition of achievements, 16 choristers were selected for region choir November 7 at Westark Junior College. Thirteen of these went on to be accepted in the all-state choir after tryouts held February 5-6 at the State College of Arkansas in Conway. The department also gave performances at the region and state choral festivals, winning all "ones" except one.

All-state choir honors 13 Northside choristers

Keeping in tune, and doing it for state honor, 13 Northside choral students qualified for the all-state choir. The winners were, as pictured above, Steve Toran, Cindy Perry, Susan West, Robin Crank, Linda Raymond, John Lincks, Robert Allen, George Pugh, Bruce Langham, Mitch Dixon, Allen Haley and Roger Owen, plus Reggie Moore. Choral students hold seventh annual festival

Forgetting school rivalries, the choral students from all of Fort Smith's junior and senior highs assembled at Northside's field house to hold the seventh annual city choral festival. Under the direction of Dr. David Foltz, chairman of the music department at the University of Southern Mississippi, the students rehearsed the entire day preparing for two performances. This year's guest choir was from the Ouachita Baptist University in Arkadelphia. The results of a long day of hard work were displayed in a concert at 4 o'clock and one at 7:30 that evening for parents and interested music-lovers.

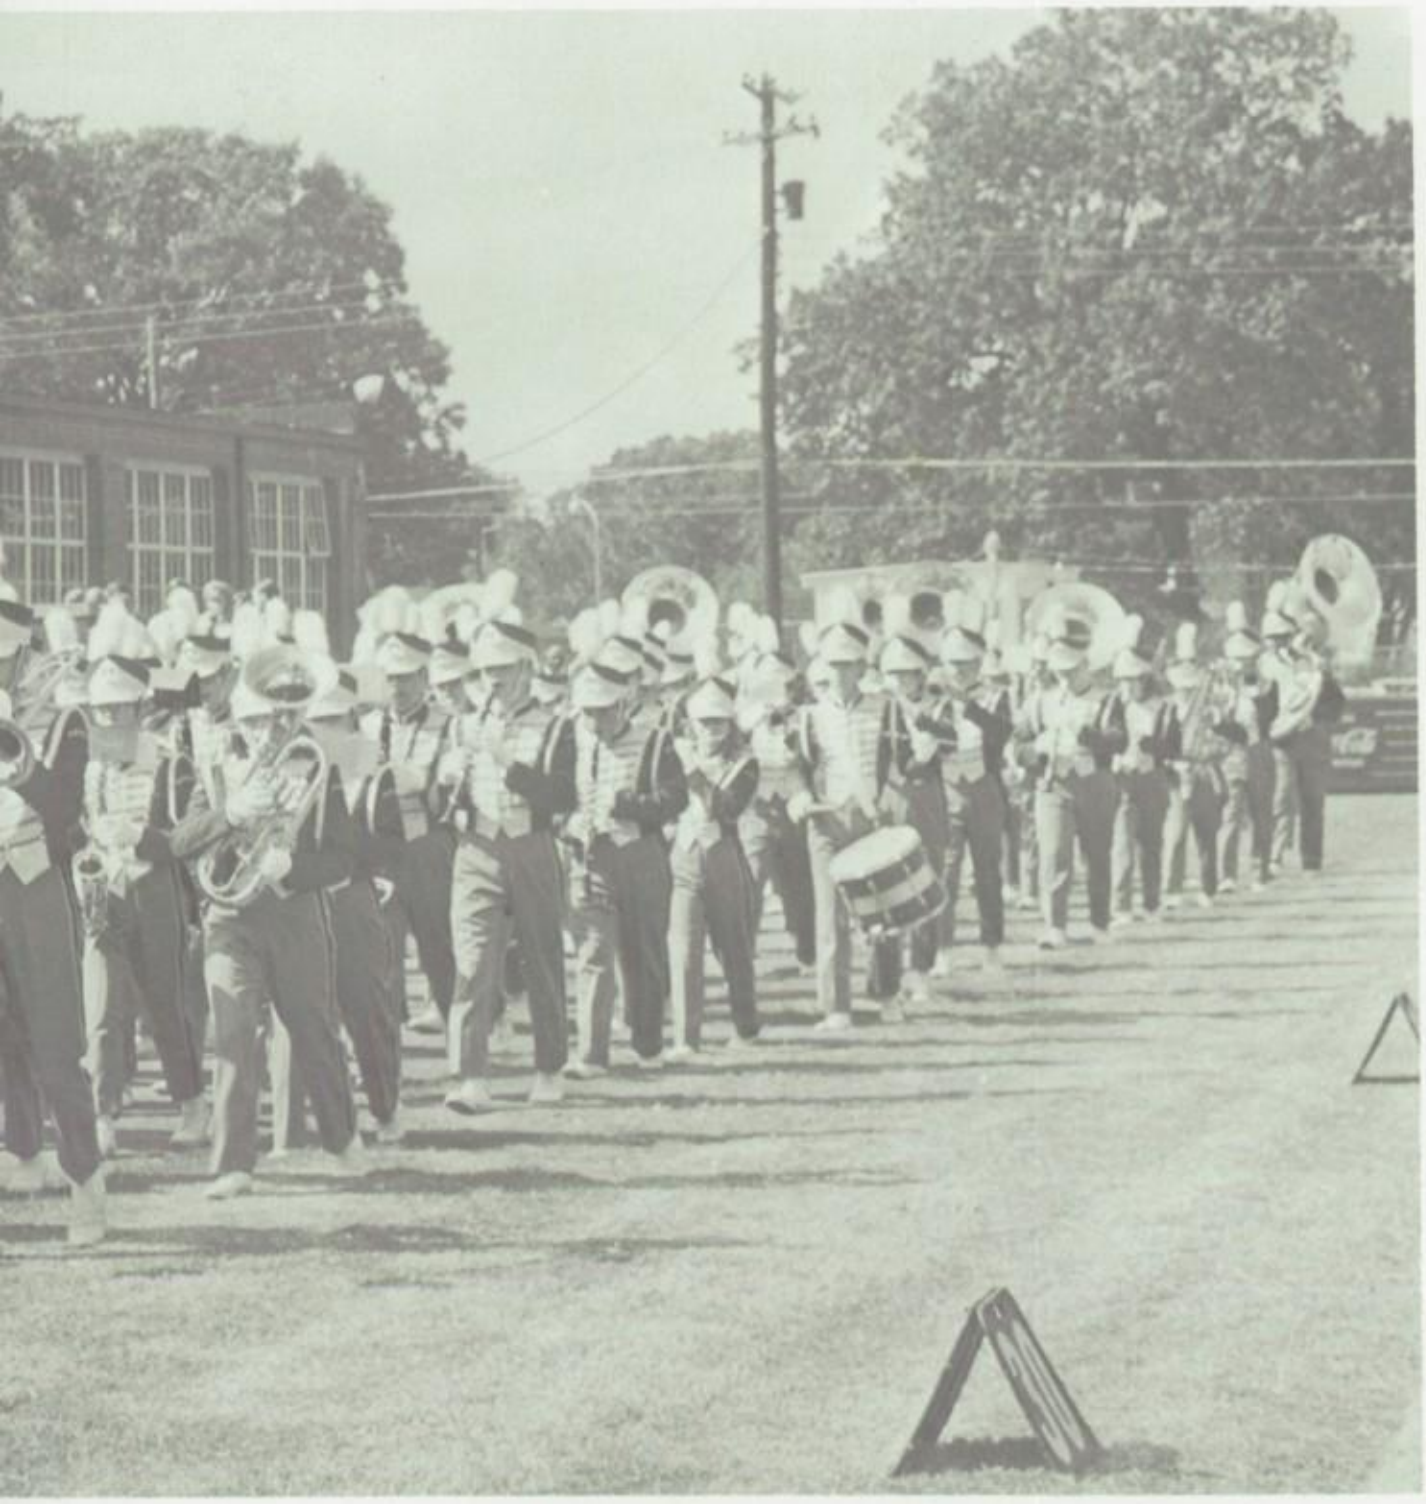
Grizzly Band gets 'back to normal'

Getting "back to normal" was the slogan of the year in Grizzly Band initiated August 12 after the long absence last year of William N. Shaver III, director. Pre-season marching rehearsals helped pave the way for 7:30 a. m. practices, half-time shows, pep assemblies and football games. The marching band also presented a Christmas concert to begin concert season December 12. Chosen during the third week of January, the concert band had a full schedule to fulfill, beginning with senior clinic tryouts January 23, and senior clinic January 29-30 in Russellville. Nineteen members of the band qualified for all-state band tryouts in Conway February 13, and many of those went on to all-state in North Little Rock February 19-20. For the first time in many years, Northside was host for the regional band and orchestra festival, held March 13. The band traveled to Hot Springs to attend the annual state band and orchestra festival scheduled for April 22-24. Concerts presented by the band included the band parents appreciation concert, a concert for Festival '71 and the spring concert.



Always ready for a parade, the Grizzly Band leads the way for the homecoming parade. Other annual parades include the local Christmas and rodeo parades. This year's parade of importance was the inaugural parade held in Little Rock for the newly elected governor, Dale Bumpers.

Alpha Rho Tau

Studio is redecorated as special art project

Bright colors, a family of bears and great artistic ability. This is what you would find if you were to visit the Northside art department. Members of Alpha Rho Tau redecorated the art studio by using red, yellow and blue—plus various mixtures of these colors—to paint chairs, tables and cabinets. Money for this activity was raised by projects such as car washes and ceramic families of Grizzly bears, which promoted school spirit as well as gathering in green money—their favorite color. Officers installed in the traditional candlelight ceremony were Russ Kious, president; Britt Crews, vice-president; Ann McGehee, secretary; and Jane Flatte, treasurer. Field trips included regular monthly visits to the local art center and a visit to Tulsa to note the architecture of Oral Roberts University and to tour Philbrook and Gilcrease museums.

'Giving' is key word in service projects

Service . . . For the Athenians, service is getting in the spirit of things by the annual project of the Christmas basket for a needy family, conducted early in December as members brought canned foods. The spirit of giving is carried on through the year as members work toward their annual gift to the school. A Bible was presented last year. Officers elected in September were president, Donna Davis; vice-president, Penny Simpson; secretary, Cynthia Spessard; and parliamentarian, Joy Brisco. Miss Kay Gentry is sponsor. Twelve girls participated in this 65th year of one of the oldest organizations on campus. A pop bottle drive was the club money-making project.

Career Club

Annual activities cover funds and future look

Undecided about your plans when you finish high school? If so, the Career Club, sponsored by Mrs. Lillian Burns, offers a look at a variety of possible answers. Activities for the Northside chapter began in October with the election and installation of officers Ann Gomez, president; Diane Young, vice-president; Dorothy Dimarob, secretary; Dian Burns, treasurer; Donna Wilbanks, reporter. Career-oriented activities included tours of a range of local businesses and interviews with local citizens–including Data Tronics, KFSA television station, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and Boys Land. To raise money for projects, members had car washes and a rummage sale. Entertainment for the Career Club included a Christmas party. The Career Club has dropped the name Nike for this year, since it is not now being sponsored, as formerly, by the Business and Professional Women of Fort Smith. The Career Club was in its sixth year on campus.

Columbians

Girls stress traditions as aid to school spirit

Red ribbons and white mums crowded the auditorium foyer as 60 Columbian members opened the year's activities with the annual sale of homecoming mums. A scavenger hunt and skits were part of the initiation of new members early in the year. At the traditional Christmas tea for the faculty, hostesses were Patti Shields, president; Nancy England, vice-president; Dana Thompson, secretary; Carolynn Dehart, treasurer; and the new sponsor Mrs. Dale Bennett. Other activities included the Christmas tree which added Christmas spirit to the Columbian lounge, Singing Valentines, the sale of stationery picturing scenes of Arkansas, and a shopping outing to Tulsa.

'Just for the fun of it,' members of club say

Checkmate!—the victorious cry of the winner of the school-wide tournament, the goal of the Chess Club throughout the year. The spring tournament is open to any NHS student who wishes to enter. The winning cry was gained through a double-elimination match, one round held each day. Each Thursday afternoon Chess Club members, under the instruction of Jerry Childers, sponsor, battled their way toward the ultimate goal—victory. Early in September "board" officers were chosen: Ronnie Mitchael, president; Mitch Dixon, vice-president; and Skipper Long, secretary-treasurer. The purpose of the club, members agreed, would not be to raise money but to "just come in after school for relaxation." Marcus Woodward was tournament winner, with Mitch Dixon runner-up.

DECA

Banquet for employers climaxes school year

"A look at business leadership and practical business experience"—that's the Distributive Education Club of America. With a membership this year of 54, DECA sponsored money-making projects as well as a study in marketing. Officers were president, Dennis Martin; vice-president, Elizabeth Cox; secretary, Jenny Dennis; treasurer, Sammy Jordon; sponsor Paul Rainwater. At the close of the year members held their annual employer-employee appreciation banquet.

Don Quijote Club

Lumberjacks for a day is new title claimed

"Wood you believe!" The cold weather came early this year, and as a money-making project, the Don Quijote Club members sold wood. By cutting "their own" (thanks to their sponsor), they saved expenses and made, as they say, "mucho dinero." Keeping up with the warm glow of financial success, they scheduled a car wash, which turned out to be on a day when it was to rain. The members explained the "purpose of the club as being to build interest in the language and to study cultural and historical achievements of the hispanic world." To become a member of the Don Quijote Club, a student must be enrolled in Spanish and have a "B" average. Officers elected in September were Janice Chitwood, president; Patricia Bryson, vice-president; Ellen Stubbs, secretary-treasurer; and John Lenington, sponsor. The annual spring banquet was held at Bowen's Town and Country Restaurant—buenos tiempos.

TAD helps club gain classroom experience

America's future teachers, otherwise known as FTA, began the new school year at Northside by having their annual initiation in November. This year 20 members attended this special initiation and received their traditional red, long-stemmed roses. Three members attended the Student Arkansas Education Association convention held at the State College of Arkansas in March. Officers elected in September included Ruth Ann Rhodes, president; Yevette Morre, vice-president; Mary Bell, secretary; Mary Weisenfels, treasurer; and Wayne Bledsoe, sponsor. Cooperating with the Student Council in Teacher Appreciation Day, FTA members were given their choice in teaching assignments, thus gaining actual classroom experience. Later, members were allowed to observe techniques of present teachers in the local schools in the annual Senior Observation Day.

French Club

Des jeux en francais pastime for members

When in France do as the French do. This may sound familiar to members of Le Cercle Francais. Sponsored by Mrs. Shirley Johnson, the club held the annual initiation in early fall. The new members wore placards stating "Parlez-vous francais," to announce that others were to "Speak to me in French." Initiates wore these placards for a full week and could speak English only in the classroom. The officers for this year were president, Jill Hatley; vice-president, Cheryl Miller; secretary-treasurer, Marilyn Smith; and parliamentarian, Valerie Heinold. For Noel, members rang out holiday cheer in carols and composed Christmas card greetings. The club held meetings on every other Thursday, discussing business and playing their games in the good old French tradition.

German Club

Great Deutsche spirit prevails through year

Are German spooks the same as ordinary spooks? More than 100 members of the German Club found out when the first-year members of the club, as part of the annual initiation, had to go through a SPOOK HOUSE, which was haunted by the second- and third-year members. Concluding the initiation, the members read ghost stories by candlelight. The same adventurous spirit carried over into the year under the leadership of club officers: Marion Hawkins, president; Kay Kutait, vice-president; Tami White, secretary; Jana Hawley, treasurer; and Mrs. John Wilkinson (commonly known as Frau), sponsor. During football season the club won the $5 first prize in the door decoration contest during Beat Pine Bluff Week. In the annual Thanksgiving door decoration contest, they again won first place, this time $15. When Christmas arrived, the members brought food, toys and clothing for a needy family. After the last can was brought in and the Christmas spirit had gone, the members climaxed the last of their group activities with their annual banquet at Emmy's German Restaurant.

Annual bonfire ignites good ole Grizzly spirit

Fire blazing, students yelling and the band playing at the homecoming bonfire in October heralded the beginning of Hi-Y school services for the year. The club, sponsored by Franklin Blair, was led by officers David King, president; Jim McFarland, vice-president; Skipper Long, secretary-treasurer; Mark Benton, chaplain. Diane Young was elected sweetheart. School activities sponsored included a canned goods drive between the seniors, juniors and sophomores, to see which class could acquire the most cans, a Christmas door decoration contest won by the Industrial Arts Club, a slave auction and the 14th annual Garvin Grizzly Awards. At this recognition program, miniature Emmy awards are given to students who have been voted the honors as having made the most outstanding achievements during the year.

Industrial Arts Club

New look on campus as club begins year

Brightly painted trash cans blossomed on campus as the Industrial Arts Club began a new school year. For a fun look the club sponsored the annual pie eating contest, proving to be a pleasant and profitable occasion. Officers included Jerry Gilbert, president; Kenny Albright, vice-president; Richard Goodlett, secretary; Hrege Mussett, treasurer and James Neely, sponsor. Interact and Industrial Arts teamed together to win first place in the annual yuletide door decoration contest. The club goal was to construct projects suitable for the Arkansas state industrial arts fair, held in May.

Projects for the annual state industrial arts fair in May were in the making throughout the year. This plan for a tourist reservation center is prepared by Robert Rich, Mike Stanrod and John Foster.

Junior Exchange

Beat Southside Week heads list of activities

Go, Bears! Beat Southside! Northside students heard this cry on the campus as Junior Exchange opened the '70-'71 school year with Beat Southside Week, September 7-11. Car washes held throughout the year helped finance the club's activities, one of which was the purchase of the North Little Rock Northeast banner for Grizzly Gym. Officers for the year were president, David Tedder; vice-president, Buz Naucke; secretary, Tommy Cheyne; treasurer, Joe Wernick; sponsor, Wayne Bledsoe. Shelagh O'Neal was elected as sweetheart for the club. In early February, Junior Exchange sponsored the annual faculty frolic in which cheerleaders faced the women faculty and Junior Exchange members played the men faculty. In April, the members of Junior Exchange helped in the selection of the Teacher of the Year at Northside as a service project.

Interact

Service, aiding needy chief aims of club

Above: Making their own vests was a club project for members this year. These models displaying their handiwork are Interact officers: Sherwood Hefner, Bobby Nicodemus, Bill Rogers and Joe Helmert.

A service club, Interact specializes in promoting school spirit in a variety of ways. The most popular of these is the "Mr. and Mrs. Ugly" contest, conducted in the spring. Winners in '71 were Walt Jackson and Dana Lockhart. Other activities included ringing Salvation Army bells downtown to help the needy have a merry Christmas and writing letters to other Interact clubs around the world. Sponsored by Rotary International, the "N" chapter is now in its eighth year. Elected in September, officers were Bobby Nicodemus, president; Sherwood Hefner, vice-president; Joe Helmert, secretary; Bill Rogers, treasurer; James Neely, sponsor.

Latin Club

Fall ceremonies feature toasts, talk and togas

Roman togas, cranberry juice, excitement. This was the setting of the Latin Club ceremonies, as eight new members were initiated. After these eight swore their oath to the gods, the entire membership drank the drink of the gods. The Latin Club entered a small float in the homecoming parade, with the theme "Charge the Chargers." With Christmas, came Saturnalia, and in May, the spring banquet. Officers elected in September were president, Bill Becker; vice-president, Steve Caver; secretary, Ann Warmack; and treasurer, Skipper Long. Mrs. Anson Gregory, sponsor, says, "The purpose of the club is to become better friends with the students interested in Latin. We also try to learn through skits more about how the Romans lived." Members present these skits at meetings.

Formerly known as the Junior Lions, the Leo Club opened the '70-'71 school year by ushering at the city-wide choral festival in the Grizzly Gym. In November the club sponsored the annual activity of a birthday party and tea for their sponsor with the faculty invited. This service organization for boys is sponsored by the local Lions Club. It is led by Dennis Martin, president; Joe Parker, vice-president; Cliff Dykes, secretary; Paul McCollum, treasurer. R. Earl Farnsworth acted as the adult supervisor of the Northside chapter. In early spring, the 12 members of the club planned and conducted an Easter egg hunt for the children at Roger Bost School.

In observance of their sponsor's birthday, members stage a surprise birthday party with the faculty invited as special guests.

'The Age of the Book' is theme of club year

"This is the Age of the Book"—This was not only the slogan of Book Week sponsored by the Library Club November 15-21, but the theme in library activities during the year. In connection with this, the club decorated the bulletin board and made posters. Ten members attended the Arkansas Student Librarians Association District Five meeting held in Mansfield in November, accompanied by Mrs. Betty Plugge and Mrs . Ruth Heinold, Library Club sponsors. This year's officers included Milly Ebone, president; Marcus Woodward, vice-president; Patsy Klyne, secretary-treasurer; Cindy Gray, historian; and Yevette Moore, reporter. The Library Club placed third in the annual homecoming parade. At Christmas, members made stuffed monkeys and elephants from socks and gloves as a service project and distributed them to needy children throughout the surrounding area.

Annual math contest draws 75 competitors

The three R's meant 'Rithmetic, 'Rithmetic and more 'Rithmetic for Math Club members this year in furthering a better understanding of mathematics. Their principal project was the annual mathematics contest, scheduled for March 9. The contest is sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America, the Society of Actuaries, the Mu Alpha Theta and the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics. Approximately 75 Northsiders signed up for the contest. Membership in the Math Club is open, but only honor students qualify for Mu Alpha Theta. Richard Goodlett was president; Jerry Gilbert, vice-president; Debbie Taff, secretary; Marion Hawkins, treasurer; Mrs. Naomi Williams, Jerry Childers, sponsors.

National Honor Society

27 initiates honored in evening ceremony

Twenty-seven students were initiated into the Northside chapter of the National Honor Society at the annual mid-year ceremonies in recognition of their scholastic ability. For the first time in six years the program was held in the evening to give parents an opportunity to be present. Highlighting the program, five student speakers—Deborah Fields, Bobby Nigh, John Sharum, Marcus Woodward and Cathey Sparkman—discussed qualifications for membership: character, service, scholarship, citizenship and leadership. After the candle-lighting ceremonies, R. Earl Farnsworth led the initiates in the pledge. Sophomores are required to maintain a 3.75 grade average, juniors and seniors 3.5. Seniors were honored in a scholarship recognition day by the Chamber of Commerce.

Officers for the 1970-71 school year were Nancy Carty, president; Darrell Meadows, vice-president; Cheryl Stephens, secretary; Gordon Floyd, treasurer; Jan Wilson, parliamentarian; Vicki White, others.

Para-Medical Club

Doctors, pupils confer on professional careers

Doctor! Is there a doctor in the building? There soon may be, as the members of the Para-Medical Club probed into the mysteries of medicine. At their meetings held twice monthly, the members held question and answer sessions with guest speakers on such subjects as optometry, neurology and orthodontics and enjoyed "medical fellowship." Officers for the 1970-'71 year were Nelson Perkinson, president; Jeannette Berlau, vice-president; Sandra Ferrier, secretary; and Tom Gammill, treasurer. Mrs. C. L. Winford sponsors the club.

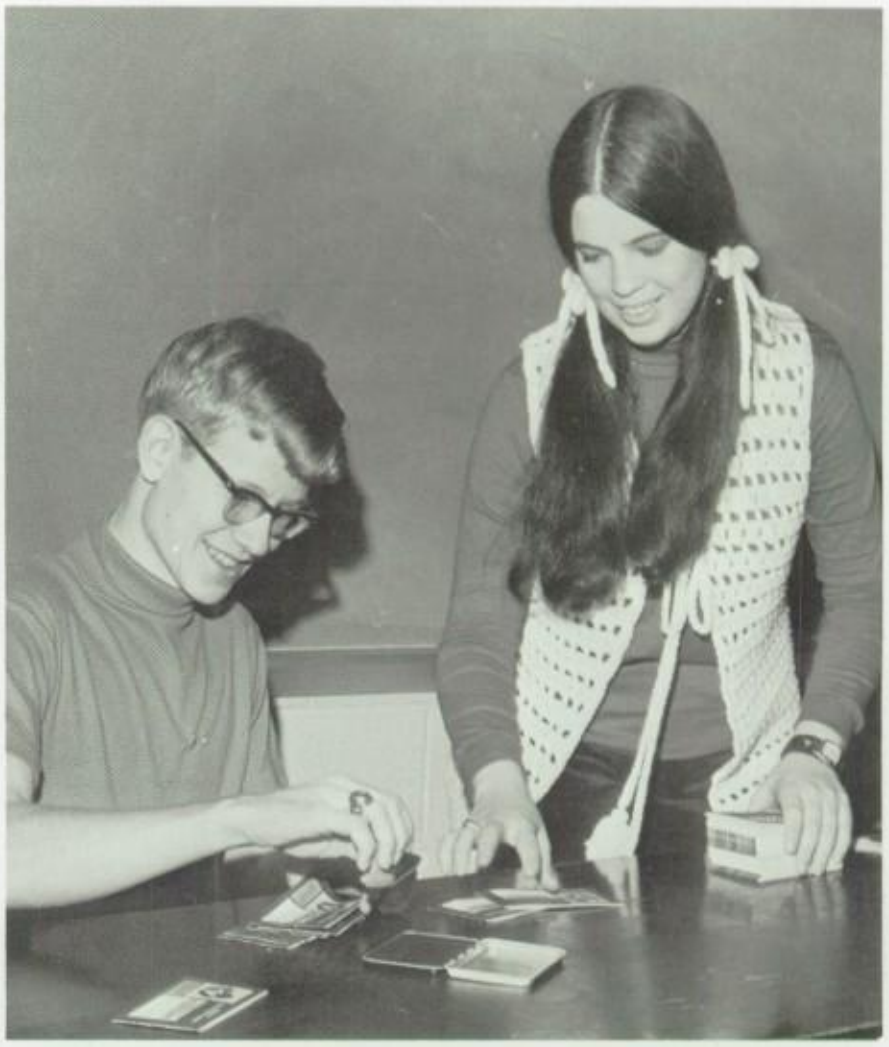
Partners in Christ

Letters to servicemen main project of year



When the sounds of "Christ Is the Answer" were heard throughout the halls on Wednesday mornings, it was a sure thing that Partners in Christ were meeting. Though song and prayer were important, a typical meeting of Partners in Christ stressed friendly discussions about different problems teen-agers now face. Sponsored by Ronnie Ashley, the club strove to encourage young people toward the Christian way of life. Officers for the year were Milton Young, president; Terri Rossett, vice-president; Cheryl Bell, secretary; Cheryl Grace, treasurer; and Larry Shankle, parliamentarian. The club held its annual Reachout with Van Buren and Southside in March. Members wrote to servicemen in Viet Nam as their main project of the year. Guest speakers discussed with the club different problems which face today's teen-agers, such as drugs and alcoholism and how to meet these problems with a Christian attitude for better living.

Quill and Scroll

Members recite poetry for special initiation

After reciting 50 lines of original poetry for an initiation program, nine members were inducted in the Northside chapter of Quill and Scroll, an international honor society for high school journalists. The club is composed of students who have done outstanding work in the publications department. In order to become a member of Quill and Scroll, a student must be in the upper one-third of his class scholastically, and a junior or senior. Membership in Quill and Scroll is composed of students from all three Northside publications.

Cadet Club

Making plans for ball is main goal of club

Question: What is NHS newest club? Answer: The JROTC Cadet Club. Every Thursday at 7:30 in the morning, 18 JROTC cadets meet in the JROTC office located at Peabody. To be a member a cadet must be elected by the corps or be a captain or hold a higher rank. Officers included president, John Sharum; vice-president, Arthur Hoge; secretary-treasurer, Mike Hampton; and sentinel, Mike Becker. Sponsor is Col. Choice R. Rucker. Raising money for the corps and creating social events are the main goals of this newly formed club. The cadets started early in the school year raising money for the annual JROTC military ball held April 24 in the Northside cafeteria. The departmental bottle drive, which the club promoted, was considered the most successful of the fund projects.

New sponsor expands dramatic arts program

Doubling their efforts this year, Sock and Buskin members presented two plays in addition to their annual activities, "My Three Angels" was staged October 23-24 and "The Crucible" March 26-27. After the membership drive, 72 members were enrolled. The first project was participation in the football homecoming parade in Mayo-Thompson Stadium. Officers for the year were Giles Gallaher, president; Michael Moore, vice-president; Jenny Dennis, secretary; and Britt Crews, treasurer. The committee chairmen were Fred Hunt, backstage; Jana Hawley, props; Fred Kelsey, sound; Jenny Dennis, wardrobe; Marilyn Stuettgen, publicity; Bill Shaver, lights. the sports program Spirit soars high in early morning pep assemblies as classes vie for the Spirit Stick honors. Game time brings sideline spirit from players in Mayo-Thompson Stadium.

It's more than a game, it's Northside!

What could ever be like football at Northside? It's early morning pep assemblies with the sun glinting on the fresh dew. It's the noisy battle between classes for the Spirit Stick. It's Friday. It's the warm night light on the field. It's sitting through the rain in North Little Rock and loving every minute of it. It's Pointer Green, Tiger Gold and Black and Wildcat Purple splashed against Red and White. It's the hard sound of helmets clashing on the field. It's a steaming hot dog and Dr. Pepper as the trumpets blare out their "Son of a Preacher Man" during the half-time parade. It's a homecoming mum. It's wanting to hug the person sitting next to you if the Grizzlies win. It's an empty feeling, but not for long, if the Grizzlies lose. Football is more than a game, it's Northside!

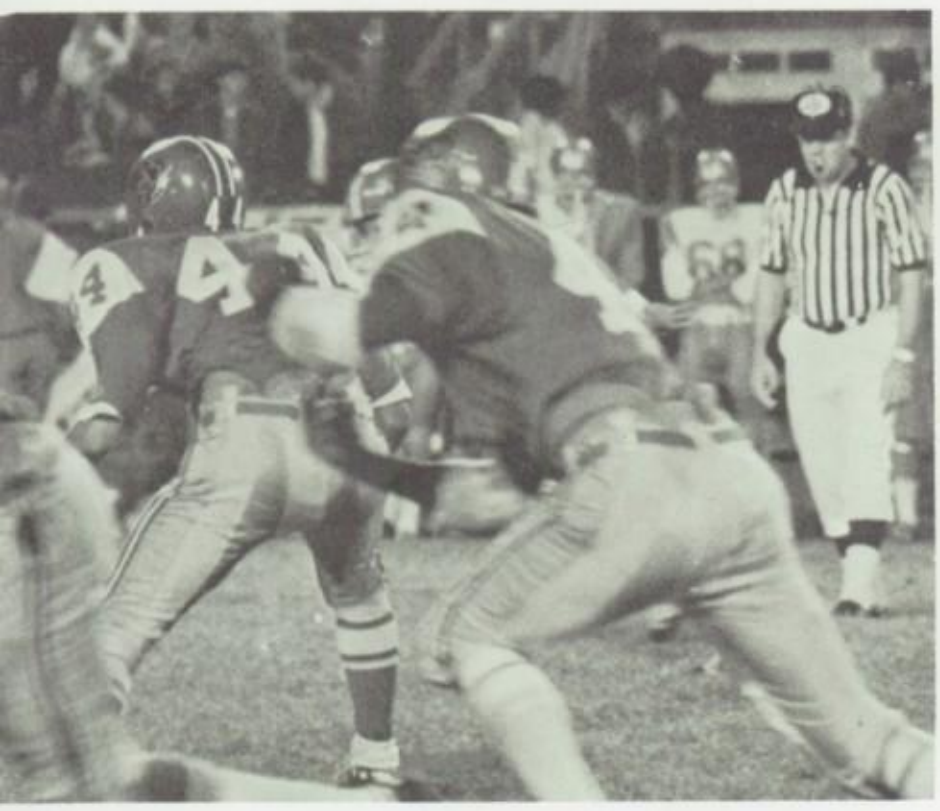
Bears post 8-3 season despite inexperience

"Yes, we were young and inexperienced, but this didn't hinder us from posting an 8-3 season," stated Head Coach Charles Presley in summing up the Bruin football story for the '70 squad. "You can't always ride high, and we had only 15 returning lettermen." Pre-season practice began August 14 with two-a-day practices until school started August 26. The opening game—traditionally against the Van Buren Pointers since 1936—netted the Grizzlies their first win of the season, 14-0. This game, however, was more important than a victory, for during the season the Van Buren school board announced that from now on they prefer to replace Northside with a school nearer their own enrollment. After an easy victory over the Southside Rebels 26-0 September 11, the Grizzlies fell to the El Dorado Wildcats in a conference road game, 12-13. "With such a young team, we continue to show improvements every week," Coach Presley stated at that time, "even though we did lose a tough ball game to the Wildcats in our first conference action." The defense was developing power.



Conference foes prove strong, tough, talented

After downing the Pine Bluff Zebras, 26-0, September 25 in Mayo-Thompson Stadium, the Grizzlies returned to the winning streak. The defensive unit kept the Zebra squad to only 43 total rushing yards, which is unusual for the Zebras' powerful running attack. On the road for the Springdale homecoming, the Grizzly squad upset the Bulldogs, last year's AAA conference champions, 28-14. Again the defensive unit exhibited skill by holding the Bulldogs to a total of zero yards rushing. Traveling to Little Rock, the Bears took on the Central Tigers and won 28-14. Grizzly spirits were not dampened by the cold and rainy Little Rock weather that met them as four bus loads of fans followed the Bears to Little Rock. Returning to Fort Smith for homecoming, Northside downed the North Little Rock Northeast Chargers 34-0. Northeast, the newest AAAA conference member, brings the membership to eight teams.

Presently the AAAA conference is made up of El Dorado, NLR Northeast, Pine Bluff, North Little Rock, LR Horace Mann, LR Hall, LR Central and Northside. Forty-six players saw action against the Chargers. Hailed state wide as the number-one high school game of the year, the Grizzlies met the LR Hall Warriors, defending state champions, October 30. Hall won, 46-14. Eighteen of 22 Hall lettermen returned to play against the Grizzlies. In this game, Roger Carter broke the Grizzlies' all-time scoring record, as he scored twice and added both extra points. This was the first home defeat since Northside lost to the North Little Rock Wildcats in 1966.

AAAA all-state team includes 3 Grizzlies

With only three games of the season remaining, the Bears came back from the Hall defeat to win two and lose one game. November 6 they took a victory over the Horace Mann Bearcats, 37-16. Junior halfback Roger Carter set a single season rushing record of 1,286 yards and 201 carries. This broke the record set last year by Billy Joe Releford, who totaled 1,279 yards rushing. Friday the 13th of November brought bad luck in the shape of 12-13 to the Grizzlies, as they lost to the North Little Rock Wildcats, number one in Associated Press ranking in Arkansas. School spirit rose to its highest as the final clash of the season approached—Northside vs. Southside, Northside was Southside's visitor and took an easy victory, 33-19. "We think this season's record is a fine accomplishment for this group of athletes," explained Coach Charles Presley. The Bears finished the season ranked seventh in the Associated Press poll with a record of 8-3. Climax of the season was the naming of Mike Blaylock and Larry Phillips, seniors, and Roger Carter, junior, to the AAAA all-state team by the Arkansas Athletics Association.

Presley heads staff; coaching clinic held

This year brought three changes in the athletic coaching program. Charles Presley, former head track coach, became head football coach and offseason supervisor, replacing Bill Stancil, who was appointed athletic superintendent for the Fort Smith school system. Tommy Parker, previously with Darby Junior High School, moved up to replace Coach Presley as head track coach. New to Fort Smith, Gerald Harrison moved to Northside from Little Rock Hall High School as the offensive line football coach and assistant track coach. Coach Presley summed up his first year as head coach by saying, "The core of our athletic program is our quality of people. These people stand for something good and are always trying to improve. The two things that are the greatest at Northside are the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the oneness among team mates and the coaches." January 29-30 brought area coaches to Northside for the fourth annual mid-winter football coaching clinic.

The matchless moments of homecoming . . . a time to be anybody, anybody at all . . . a child licking on a sucker . . . a fashion leader tied up at the moment . . . a Grizzly gladiator having an electrifying experience . . . a beacon pointing the way . . . a Hollywood starlet boosting her favorite team . . . the world's greatest balloon hawker in action . . . a financial tycoon, the "bear" of Wall Street . . . future Grizzlies looking forward . . . the warm and wonderful feeling of being a Grizzly.

Pep and pizzazz . . . homecoming's here!

Balloons bobbing, banners waving, people shouting. It's homecoming! The theme was "Roses and Rhythm" and the day was beautiful. Going along with the motto, "New Is Better," the heavy tradition-laden parade down Garrison was given a face lifting. The lighter, brighter junket around the school enabled more students to actually see the parade. Moving away from the money-eating monstrosities of the past, the maximum float length was cut. Except for the cars, all the regulars were back this year, including the costumed Sock and Buskin initiates, the marching JROTC, the music-making Grizzly Band and the French Club cycling enthusiasts. After the last float had rounded the bend, the students trouped to the stadium for a pep assembly. Spirit was at an all-time high, boosted by many weeks of planning, pep assemblies and victories. Competition was stiff, but the seniors came through to win the Spirit Stick. First place in floats also went to the senior class, putting a fitting end to their last football homecoming. A victory dance complete with "soul" was held in the cafeteria to celebrate the Bears' 34-0 win over the North Little Rock Northeast Chargers. A beautiful day to end a beautiful week with the beautiful Bears of Bruinland.

Grizzlies place first despite tourney loss

State tournament or no state tournament, Northside is the number one team in Arkansas. This is the opinion of sportswriters and coaches across the state according to the Associated Press, the United Press International, the Arkansas Democrat and KATV Channel 7. The Bruins are state champions despite their loss to Little Rock Central in the AAAA tourney. This is the first time in the state athletic history that the winner of the state tournament was not named number one. Northside finished the regular season with a 13-1 conference mark. The Bears' speed and experience prevailed against the height and strength of opposing squads. The Bruins, AAAA conference champs, also won the tournament sportsmanship trophy and finished the year with a 23-3 record. Tom Poole and Russ Basham were named to the AAAA all-state team and along with Roger Carter were listed on the AAAA all-conference team. Twelve players and team managers lettered.

"This type of pride makes up a great part of a successful season," he commented. Left: The defensive effort of the Bears was one of this year's strong points. Bruins no. 1 in poll following Mann game

Overcoming their lack of size and displaying great defensive effort, the Grizzlies worked their way to the state's top ranking by late January. Sparked by the shooting of Tom Poole and the rebounding of Warren Thompson, the team emerged from the non-conference schedule with a record marred only by the Harrison Goblins. The Bears dealt game-winning blows to two conference opponents, El Dorado and NLR Northeast, before barely escaping with a victory in overtime at North Little Rock. Three triumphs later found Northside rated number two and going against Horace Mann, rated number one, in the Grizzly field house. A capacity crowd saw an agressive give-and-take contest with the final score 62-54 in favor of the Bruins. Voted number one in the state by the Associated Press, the Grizzlies then faced the job of defending their position until state tournament.

Cubs gain experience, aim for varsity squad

Unheralded and rarely publicized, the Northside Cubs again this year played B teams from other schools in order to get experience needed to earn a place on the first string. The Cubs go through the same drills as the varsity squad and work on the same plays. "But," explains Cub coach Tom Crovella, "we don't belong to any league or compete for any title, and this takes off much of the pressure." One of the strong points of the '70-'71 Cubs was the teamwork they displayed. Also, according to Coach Crovella, the defense carried this year's squad. Sophomores and juniors were rotated in the line-up with no single player dominating the games. Top scorers were Tom Carson, Steve Caver, John Isom and David Roach.

Queen Marleene reigns in homecoming court

"Who will get it? Who will get it?" The "it" in question was basketball homecoming queen, one of the best-kept secrets of the year. Those who knew were not telling, and a crowd of 2,200 spectators waited expectantly for the answer. Edging a little closer to the front of their seats, the crowd fell silent at the signal and the red and white pageantry unfolded on the field house floor. First sophomore, junior, then senior maids were announced and finally the queen, Marleene Williams, was crowned by R. Earl Farnsworth, principal. The Bear's 55-44 conference win over the Hall High Warriors was celebrated by a victory dance in the cafeteria. The week's activities were off to a rousing start with Hat Day and the annual coffee held for the team in the auditorium foyer by the Student Council.

'N' Club recognizes athletic ability

Work, determination, sweat and fatigue. This is what it takes to become an "N" Club member. Membership is based on participation in the athletic program. The "N" Club was formed to provide fellowship among Northside's athletes. This year's officers are Mike Blaylock, president; H. L. McGill, vice-president and Tooter Craft, secretary-treasurer. Sponsor is Coach Charles Presley. The year is climaxed with a spring trip to Lake Tenkiller and a cook-out at Creekmore Park.

Thinclads experience rebuilding season

Trying to maintain a winning record despite the lack of experience, the '71 track team was faced with what to do for an encore to '70–Northside's first unbeaten regular season squad. Coach Tommy Parker returned only seven lettermen, all starters, from a senior-loaded team last year. Seymour Butler, the state champion in the 220-yard dash, returned to improve on last year's winning time of 22.0. Other returning entries from last year are Roger Carter, Gary White, Mike Branson, Tommy Cheyne, Lee Lewis and Art Capehart. Carter and White were the team's most versatile athletes, each participating in sprints and relays, with Carter competing in the high jump and hurdle events and White in the long jump and pole vault. Branson and Butler were members of the state's winning mile relay team in '70. Butler and Laland Booth led the team's sprinters. Cheyne substituted for state record holder Robert Owens in the open quarter last season while Lewis and Capehart threw the shot put and discus. John Fiehl and David Tedder ran the mile.

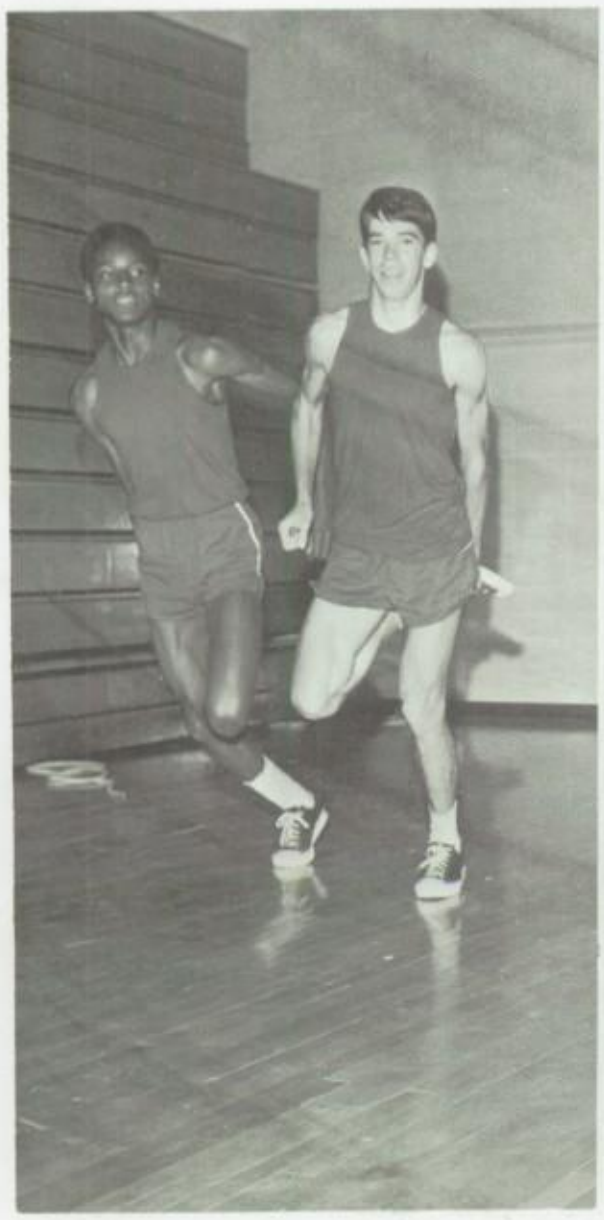
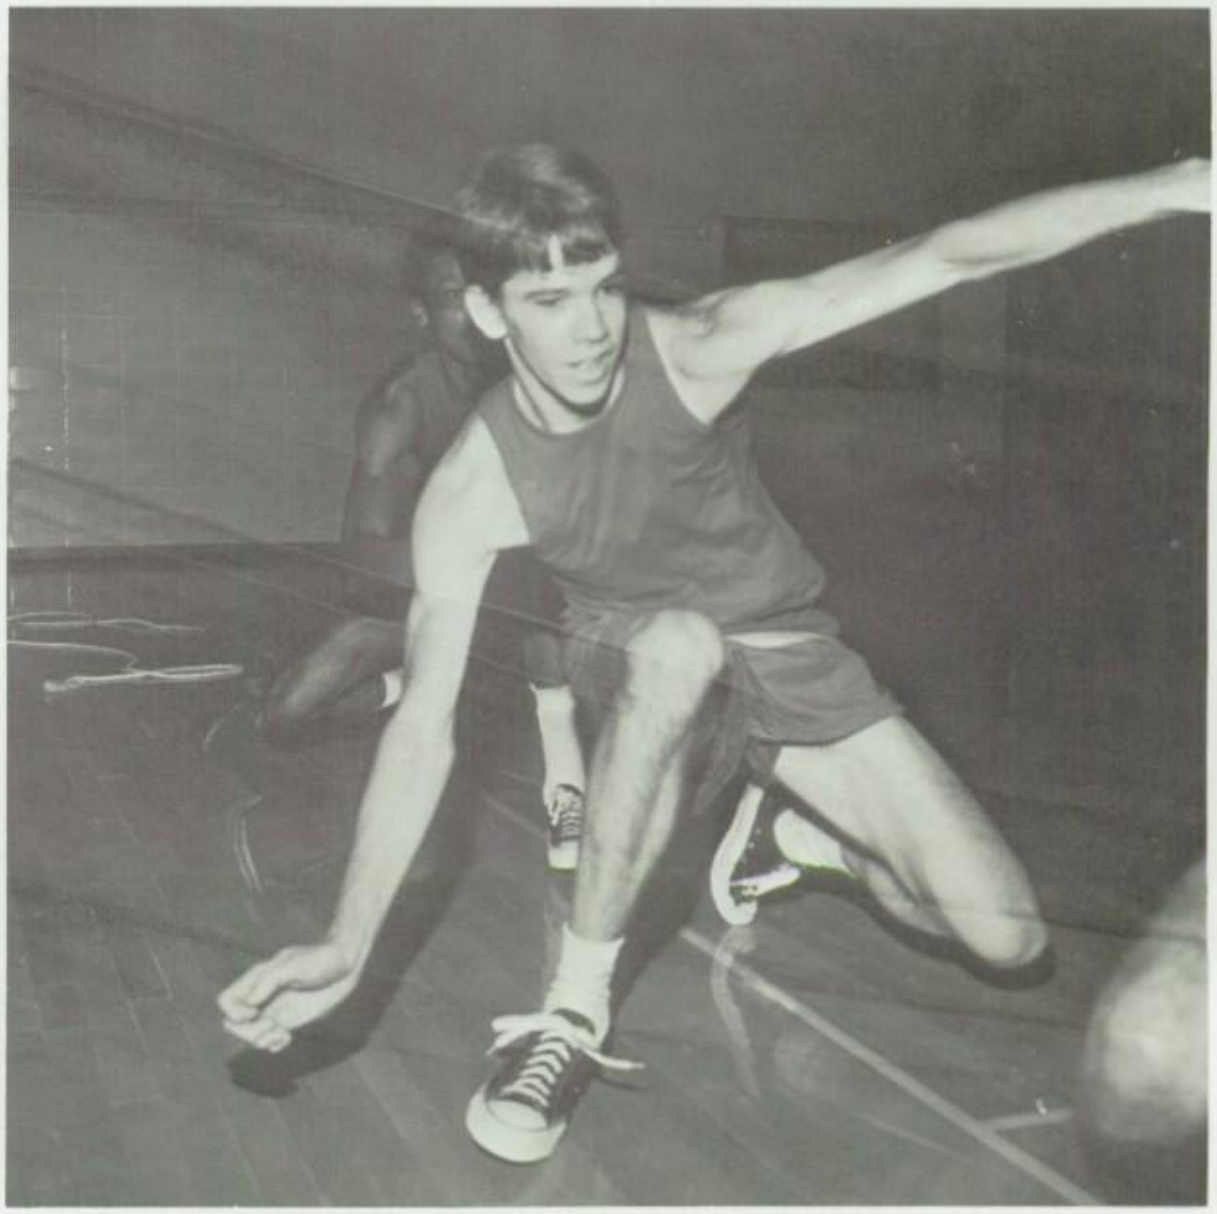
Four seniors demonstrate off-season exercises: Mike Branson, Tom Poole, Warren Thompson and Russ Basham work on improving their coordination by jumping rope. Warren and Mike practice hopping on one foot to develop balance and a "duck walk" to strengthen leg muscles and test endurance.





"This is where the team is made," says Coach Charles Presley referring to the athletic off-season workouts. The Bruins spend about two hours daily in training. "Our work is designed to improve speed, agility and strength," explains Coach Presley. In good weather, the athletes begin by running laps outside on the stadium track. Afterwards, and on bad days, the Bears report to the old gym, where athletes condition under the supervision of Bruin coaches. The routine there includes weight lifting and agility exercises with names like the "bear crawl" and the "duck walk."

Girls join '71 ranks of Grizzly swingers

Feminine influence became the newest aspect of the Northside golf program when two girls joined the 1971 team. Jane Ann Willcoxon and Elizabeth Dollens swung, chipped and putted their way onto the Bruin golf squad. The 11-member roster also showed Bill Agler, Ronnie Bartmier, Bo Baumeister, John Bayliss, Gary Cooper and Marty Goins, returning players; Mark Secrest, Jim Stapleton and Steven Stiles, newcomers to the team. "Although the '71 squad is smaller than the previous team of 16," Head Coach Bill Shaffer commented, "it is a much stronger group." Practices started in August with golfers keeping in pre-season shape by working out with weights. The yearly climax is the Northside invitational golf tournament held with the NHS invitational track meet. The annual schedule includes meets with Fayetteville, Rogers, Siloam Springs, Southside, Springdale, Greenwood and Van Buren.

Cheerleader chant: 'Bears are great!'

"We're from Northside, couldn't be prouder!" and "Go, Bears, go!" echoed from the student body at every football and basketball game and track event. The job of directing these cheering fans fell on Northside's eight cheerleaders—Leanna Hutson '71, head cheerleader, Janet Marley '71, Chrissy Nincehelser '71 and Claudette White '72, Jo Lynn Townley '71, Paula Arnold '72, Lynn Coats '72 and Crystal Vann '71. They were elected in April '70 by a school-wide vote, following annual tryouts. Kicking off their drive for "Grizzly Spirit," the cheerleaders were chosen number one "Spirit Boosters" at the National Cheerleading Institute held at Cape Kennedy, Florida, in June. An ordinary day usually began by cheering in a pep assembly or making signs in preparation for the big night and end with boosting the Pep Club members or selling magazines or working at a rummage sale or car wash to raise money for next year's clinic and out-of-town trips. Other special activities included a tea and holiday parties.

10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1-GO BEARS!!! Two hundred Pep Club members blast the Bears off to a winning start in football, basketball and track. This rocket's ignition fire was lighted early in August by Miss Marjorie Beall and Miss Carolyn Ramsey, sponsors, and by club officers Sandra Ferrier, president; Patti Shields, vice-president; Gail White, leader; and Jayne Gates, leader. The Pep Club members worked at the first stage of car washes, candy sales and rummage sales to prepare their "Grizzly Rocket" for lift-off at the first football game, September 4. Once in space, the members dropped the first stage and progressed to the second of "heating up" the Bears during games. The highlights in this stage were bus trips to out-of-town games in North Little Rock, Little Rock Central and Springdale, and participation in football homecoming activities. In honor of the queen and her court, the Pep Club formed a lighted football. The final stage was reached in April when Pep Club members tried out for 1971-'72 cheerleaders. The eight selected girls will take over the controls of next year's pep rocket and once again blast the Bears into space with the traditional Grizzly spirit.

Constitution is ratified, club policy revised

An extension in Student Council activities began with the ratification of the constitution and designing of a handbook containing the new guidelines for organizations and clubs. Led by first-semester officers—Roscoe Thompson, president, and Becky Wiggins, vice-president—and new sponsors Ronnie Ashley and Bill Shaffer, other activities included the Bear Bargain Store, a new dimension in money-making activities, the Christmas post office, booster tags and the book exchange, which opened in mid August. A plan for coordinating interclub activities was initiated in September. Activities for the second semester—headed by John Bayliss, president, and Sandra Ferrier, vice-president—included Teacher Appreciation Day, basketball homecoming and Parent Appreciation Night.

Outstanding seniors named to Hall of Fame

Sixty-eight seniors were nominated by members of the N crowd as candidates for the '71 Hall of Fame. Ballots were prepared by the Senior Council, and the winners were selected by faculty members. Names of the winners are traditionally kept secret until the arrival of the Bruin in May. Because of the large number of nominees, there were ties for the last three places.

Bill Shaver is a member of the Senior Council, Key Club, Sock and Buskin, German Club and a delegate to Boys State. He has been a Grizzly Band member for three years, serving as drum major.

John Bayliss, student body president, is a member of the National Honor Society and the House of Representatives. He was a delegate to Boys State and has served on all three class councils.

Faith Davis was a delegate to Girls State. She is a member of the Student Council, Para-Medical Club and the Pep Club.

Ricky Cogburn, Senior of the Month for September, has served as president of both Junior and Senior Councils. He was a delegate to Boys State and Boys Nation. As a member of the Key Club, he served as Lieutenant Governor for the Missouri and Arkansas District last year.

Portrait artist chooses beauty contest winner

Who can say what beauty is? This year's senior class left the decision up to a portrait artist at Gittings Studio with Neiman-Marcus in Dallas. The artist named Janie Wenderoth as the most beautiful Northside senior girl for 1971. Sixty-five girls were nominated during a school-wide ballot. These girls submitted their school portrait to the Senior Council, who then asked Mrs. Dale Bennett, dean of girls, to serve as chairman of additional arrangements for the contest. The portraits were sent to an anonymous committee of Little Rock citizens. The seven finalists chosen there were Sharon Bailey, Elizabeth Cox, Faith Davis, Janet Marley, Chrissy Nincehelser, Linda Pettway and Janie Wenderoth. The Bruin Beauty contest, one of the highest honors a senior girl can have, is as old as the Bruin itself. Traditionally the result of the competition is kept secret until the presentation of the yearbook in May.

Mascot brings class new look on campus

"Brian did it! Brian did it!" These words were shouted by Northside juniors when they received the Spirit Stick at the first pep rally of the year. Brian Sullivan is the four-year-old junior mascot who has lead juniors in spirit making throughout the year under the leadership of class officers: Alan Richardson, president, Ethan Westfall, vice-president; and Marion Hawkins, secretary. In the way of service, the council set up a booth at the fair for the March of Dimes in September. They rang bells downtown for the Salvation Army in December and polished all the trophies in the Columbian lounge. Fund raising included a candy sale in the early fall, the selling of linen calendars in mid-winter, and a leaf rake held during work week. "Love N Bear It" was the theme of Junior Varieties in February. The council also sponsored "Beat Zebra Week," which included a door decoration contest and wearing tennis shoes to "Sneak up on the Zebras" during football season.

New sponsor steers soph 'ship of state'

"Better Bears you'll never see, we're the class of '73!" chanted exuberant sophomores as they set out in September to prove themselves in Grizzlyland. They started the year with a new sponsor, Bruce Hoffsommer. Officers Steve Middleton, president, and Judy Townley, vice-president, were elected in September along with the 38-member council. Projects include the sale of candy and of plastic covers for the yearbook. Float-making for the football homecoming parade produced for the class a second-place victory.

the day the first long dress appeared. . .

the night of the bonfire. . .

the night parents came to school. . .

the night the new Mixed Chorus members were robed . . .

Carolyn,

I sure am glad I got to know you or I just wouldn't know what to do this summer. I still don't know what I'm going to do during June. You're a real sweet and cute girl. (Just don't let all your compliments go to your head! Ha! We've really had our times with the you know who's (S.C.), haven't we? Oh, well. I guess that's life. I hope I survive through it all. I'd like to see how things are in my later life. See ya this summer.

Good luck,

CLASS OF '67 - '68
GRIZZLY LAND
HOME OF THE BEARS

Bruin '71 . . . the story of 'the N crowd'

Being a member of the editorial staff is an experience filled with labor and laughter. A yearbook is not merely an album filled with pictures and names, but is the story of a year, the story of the "in crowd." The people who compiled this year's story will long remember the busy hours, the struggles and the frustrations. But most of all will be remembered the pride and the feeling of accomplishment when everything was at last completed. There are many people to whom a special word of thanks should be given: R. Earl Farnsworth, Clifton Grace, Bill C. Bardrick, Mrs. Dale Bennett, Miss Faye Marie Taylor, Mrs. Betty Morris, Mrs. Nora Speer, Mrs. Virginia Young, Mrs. Helen Freeman, Mrs. Anna Lee Womble, Mrs. Carl Adams, William N. Shaver III, William Ward, Jerry Klinginsmith and Ronnie Ashley of Northside, K. J. Austin, W. A. Christian and Dale Bennett of the Henington Publishing Company and to our photographer, Allen H. Barnett, a man of many outstanding qualities. Finally we would like to recognize Miss Hazel Presson, advisor of Northside's publications. This book would not have been possible without her guidance and inspiration to her students and staff, her "chickadees." The "birdcage," room 105, serves as the birthplace for the Bruin.

Carolyn,

I'm glad that you scanned this page especially for me. It was really nice of you. Well, it has been a really great year, I just don't know how to explain it, so... I won't.

Well, you've really got a great personality and you smile alot. Hasn't anyone ever told you that? Well... if they haven't, I have. I hope that maybe, just maybe we may have some classes together. Wouldn't that just be great! I hope that we will always remain friends in the future and stay as nice as you are.

Best of luck,
Regina

Carolyn, I'm glad I got to know you. It has been a fun year in class with you. You are a cute and sweet girl and I wish you the best of luck in the future. Thanks for helping me to. I am getting shocked up (nervous & excited) so. Have fun... & in general you will go far.
Good luck
Always Carolyn

Carolyn,
I haven't got to know you this year but I've been told you are all right.
Have a nice vacation as a junior Brenda Walker

Carolyn,
We've made it for 1 year, it now let's just make the rest of the way; you've been a very good friend this year and I hope our friendship lasts 4-ever. Stay sweet and considerate, like you've always been, and you'll make it in life!

"Best of Luck"
"Butch" Hendricks
"72"

Carolyn,
Well Gee, where should I start?
This past year has been great no doubt.
It's surprising how well a person can get to know someone in 9 months. Don't take it wrong. HA!
I hope your dream comes true.
I now know how much you admire that guy. My eyes have seen my ears have heard. HA! I could sit and write a whole book but I won't. Have fun in Hot Springs. I'm even anxious to hear about it.
Maybe next year we will have better luck. Sometimes I don't think it could get any worse. We waste time waiting.
Good Luck (Goats). I admire you.
Stay cute and sweet.
Love always,
Debbie
P.S) I can't write so well in the dark!

Carolyn,
Where do I start and once I do where do I end. There's so much to say But not the time nor space to sally it in. I'm so glad that I met you and Debbie. like I said to her I don't know what I would have done without y'all. If I can help you in anyway tell me. I wish you luck with your-know-who. Thanks for all the things you've done for me this year. I hope we have lot's of classes together
Love
Thompson ??

Carolyn Triplett

Carolyn,
You've been a nice friend,
although I don't know you too well, I do know you're a sweet girl. How'd you do on your frog?
I really hope you are in a lot of my classes next year. Good luck & best wishes to you. Corny, but sincere! You have all going for you-your great looks & great personality.
That's what it takes, & you've got it.
See ya next year,
Leslie Wanslow "73"

Carolyn,
you are a real, sweet, cute, funny intelligent girl. I have got to know you a lot better this year. Have fun in Hot Springs. I want hear about it as soon as you get back O.K. I hope and pray that a person and a person don't break up while you are gone to Hot Springs and a person likes you. Thanks for all the rides to the basketball games. See you this summer.
Love ya.
